We Are

The iconic tennis brand that first brought style to the court, reinterpreting that heritage into a modern, functional wellness lifestyle.

We are the brand that first brought style to tennis, introducing fashion to the court through the elegant and instinctive sensibility of Italian tennis. Rooted in an identity shaped by creating new value at the intersection of sport and style, this heritage is reinterpreted today through a refined athleisure lens—flowing seamlessly from court to social life, and expressed as lifestyle wear that embodies functional elegance, designed to be worn, lived in, and trusted every day.

Our Heritage

Founded in 1966, Sergio Tacchini redefined tenniswear, introducing elegance and style to the court. Today, under F&F, our heritage evolves — shaping a modern Premium Active Lifestyle rooted in tennis culture.

Where style entered the court. Tenniswear reimagined through elegance, proportion, and refined function — defining a new tennis aesthetic.	The foundation of an icon. Signature silhouettes and the Tacchini color palette take shape, establishing a distinct presence on the global tennis stage.	From court to culture. The tracksuit becomes a symbol, extending tennis style into everyday life and earning cultural credibility beyond the game.	Reinterpreting heritage for today. Archive codes translated into contemporary silhouettes, balancing tradition with modern ease.	Holding identity through change. A period of reflection and structural shift — preserving the essence of tennis while preparing for evolution.	From heritage to modern living. Evolving from a legacy brand into a platform for Premium Active Lifestyle — rooted in tennis, shaped for contemporary wellness.

Product Development Rules :Fabric

"Premium Function, Timeless Social Living"

Premium functionality defines today’s court attitude and extends it into a more active, timeless everyday life—refined social living. That’s why we prioritize polished functional fabrics and continuously review them.

Natural Face, Performance Core

A natural hand feel, enhanced with moisture-wicking performance and a structured, durable build. Beyond pure natural fibers, it’s engineered with high-function poly/ elastane to support shape retention and everyday wear.

Surface Aesthetics

No shiny nylon or high-gloss fabrics. Moderate texture and layered knit feel (high-density pique, tech-knit)

Hidden Performance (Invisible Tech)

Natural look on the outside, but dual-layer structure with sweat-wicking, quick-dry, and stretch functions hidden inside.

:Silhouette

“Active Body Awareness”

The silhouette reveals an active body with restraint—social, not sporty. Clean lines and controlled fit create quiet sensuality and refined confidence, never overt.

- ✔ Protect & Support
We prioritize the right sense of space between body and garment to naturally reveal a form shaped by a wellness lifestyle, finishing dignified movement with a properly fitted shoulder line.
- ✔ Active-Ready
Tennis swing freedom, depth of movement when bending or lifting. When first worn, the silhouette must appear “dressy yet functional.”
- ✔ Length Balance
Proportional balance between skirt and pant length is crucial. Avoid imbalances that break the elegance—too short, or too loose.

:Color

“Elegant Active Palette”

Brand’s color defines the most essential visual identity. Standard: Tone-on-Tone & Refined point-color.

- ✔ No Strong/Bright
Avoid neon colors and bold primaries that are visually jarring. The palette rejects excessive stimulation in favor of refined restraint.

- ✔ Quiet Luxury Color
Use refined muted tones with understated elegance: Deep Navy, Quiet Light Blue, Ecru (ivory/beige), Muted Burgundy, Brown, and Forest Green.

- ✔ Coordination Rule
Organize color by silhouette, using same tone families or anchors. Navy and grey serve as base tones, with refined point-color used as accents in draping. Tone-on-tone matching creates a dressy set-up look.

:Detail

“Rational Functionalism”
Details matter - not for excess decoration but for purpose. Standard: Simple, Basic, but Functional.

✓ Refined Decorative
No excessive or unnecessary graphics, logos, or patch elements. "Why is this detail necessary?" must have a functional answer. Noise is eliminated; purpose remains.

✓ Signature Elements
We prioritize signature line graphics such as the “Damarindo stripe”(distinctive double stripe) and anything that compromises silhouette or mobility—should not be used.

✓ Premium Artwork
We keep logo use minimal, grounded in the most refined symbol or graphic application. Avoid excessive detailing, and express it as a sophisticated, high-finish emblem.

Market Strategy

"Premium Lifestyle Activewear"
Sergio Tacchini occupies a distinct premium sweet spot within the activewear landscape. Rooted in tennis heritage and Italian elegance, the brand moves beyond mass performance and pure athletic wear — defining a refined territory where heritage authority meets modern, lifestyle-driven active wellness.

What We Choose Not to Be

Sergio Tacchini is built on clarity, restraint, and longevity. As a brand rooted in tennis heritage and refined active living, our direction is defined as much by what we pursue as by what we deliberately avoid. These eight principles serve as clear guardrails — protecting our identity from short-term trends, excessive noise, and diluted expression.

ABSOLUTE NO : 8 Prohibitions,

- Not a Street Brand
We do not follow streetwear trends or hype cycles. Our foundation is refined activewear, shaped by culture and restraint.
- No Discount Growth
Growth is not driven by discounts or outlets. Brand value is built through consistency, not price erosion.
- No Logo Mania
Logos serve purpose, not decoration. Design is guided by intention, not excess branding.
- No Y2K Reliance
Heritage is not nostalgia. We reinterpret timeless codes with relevance — never as retro costume.
- No Style Without Function
We avoid style without function. Our strength is elegantly functional—refined in form, reliable in use.
- No Short-term Hype
We do not chase momentary attention. Our focus is longevity, cultural relevance, and lasting value.
- Beyond “Athlete”
We speak to life beyond competition. Tennis is our origin, but lifestyle is our language.
- No Oversized
Silhouettes are never excessive. Fit should feel comfortable yet composed — tailored, balanced, and elegant.

Our customer is rooted in tennis, but not limited to the court.
They appreciate the discipline and elegance of sport,
while choosing to live actively, playfully, and fully in everyday life.
